The Office of Foundation and Corporate Giving (FCG) connects companies and nonprofit funders with the innovative thinking of UC Davis educators, scientists and physicians, leading to partnership investment in people, programs and research with global impact. Simply put, they are matchmakers and relationship builders. Using a two-pronged approach, they meet with faculty to understand their research and funding needs and meet with funders to understand their interests and priorities so they can find the best ways to connect them with campus.

This presentation will cover:

- Services the FCG provides
- Foundation and Corporate fundraising basics
- Considerations in planning a project geared toward non-governmental funders
