Would you kindly walk through an example of how to enter the annual step increases into the budget template?

08:46:58 From Mia Bartholomew to Everyone:
NIH doesn't allow escalation. Would we do the escalation "behind the scene"?

08:47:32 From Linda to Everyone:
Thank you Alyssa, love the function of the custom escalation rates built in

08:47:50 From Keith D Anglin to Everyone:
That custom option is great, Thanks Alyssa

08:49:03 From Yoke to Everyone:
For NIH, we should be budgeting at the NRSA post-doc level 0 for GSRs

08:49:08 From Yevgeniy Gnedash to Everyone:
Could you also escalate the base salary by 9.3%? I believe that would average the 3% escalations

08:49:40 From Rolando to Everyone:
Yes, Thanks!

08:52:36 From Rachel Schermerhorn to Everyone:

Another question for Denise, if I have a student who is on a T32 and their supplement is coming from a discretionary account, is it possible for the supporting funds to go to a discretionary account? Or do we provide a grant account even if the stipend isn't coming from there?

08:54:41 From Denise Ehlen to Everyone:

@Rachel, central funds are intended to mitigate the impact on the grant/contract. Central funds are not available to mitigate personnel costs charged to discretionary funds. The employee contribution workbook should only include covered employees funded by grants/contracts (and not include any covered employees fully funded by match/local funds).

So we can award in December, but accounts won't be opened until January, correct? This will affect clinical trial contracts with effective dates of date of signature.
